AMPUTATING A LEG.

Don't you wish each day was

Only Sunday night ?

We don't know when we have been more shocked than in perusing the follow ing. It occurred in St. Lawrence county, in this State, and is given on the authority of a gentleman of undoubted veracity:

" A young man addicted to intemperate habits, during one his periodical 'sprees,' took a sudden notion to pay a visit to his 'sweetheart.' On the evening alluded to, the young lady and a female associate were the only occupants of the house where she resided.

"About ten o'clock in the evening the young man arrived at the house, considerably worse from the use of 'beverages.' His strange manner in approaching the door excited the suspicion of the young ladies, who supposed the house was attacked by robbers. He knocked at the door, and demanded admission; but his voice not being recognized, from the thickness of his tongue, the ladies refused to comply with his demand.

" Determined to force an entrance, he nenced a series of assaults upon the barred and bolted door by kicking and pounding. After a number of desperate kicks, the panel of the door gave way, and the leg of the besieger went through the aperture, and was immediately seized by one of the ladies and firmly held while the other, armed with a saw, commenced the work of amputation.

The grasp was firmly maintained, and the saw vigorously plied, until the leg was completely served from the body!

"With the loss of his leg, the intoxicated wretch fell upon his back, and in that condition lay the remainder of the night. "In the meantime the ladies were frightened almost to death. With the dawn of merning the revelation was made that one of the ladies had participated in the amputation of the leg of her lover!

"The wretched man was still alive .-His friends were immediately sent for, and he was conveyed to his home, where, with proper treatment, he gradually and miracuously recovered, and is now alive

" We hardly credited,' says the edi tor of the journal from which we quote, 'the latter part of the story, and contended that the man must have bled to death on the spot, insisting, indeed, that it could not be otherwise. But we were mista-

A WARNING TO SPECULATION.

Once on a time a country Dutchman early one morning went to town, where by chance he overheard some traders telling each other how much money they had made that morning by speculation, one of them had made $100, $200, $500, &c. Han's bump of acquisitivenes was se excited that he, without any reflections forthwith concluded to leave his former business, which was labor, and try his hand at speculation, and on his return home made his intentions known to his faithful vrow. Early next morning he gathered his wallet containing his funds, amounting to five dollars, and off he goes post haste and half bent, to look up a speculation. He had not proceeded far when he met a wagoner and accosted him

"Good morning, Mr. Wagoner, I wants to speculate a leetle dish mornin wid you." "Well, say," said the wagoner. " how do you want to speculate." "Vell," says the Dutchman, "I will pet you fife dollars you can't guess what my dog's name ish." "Call him up till I look at him," rejoined the wagoner. Dutchman -"Her-e Vn-tch, he-re Va tch, he-re Va-tch." The dog trots up, the wagoner eyes him for a moment and said, " I guess his name is Watch." Dutchman -"O besure, Mr. Wagoner, you has won him, de monish is yours," and Hans returned to his old occupation, perfectly

HOW TO WINTER ONE HUNDRED

Farmer tells how to winter one hundred head of sheep on two acres of land. But I have done better than that. This is the way I do it, and not ou rich, highly manured land either.

I take for the purpose nothing more than a common wheat soil; if rich the growth is and to be too large. I take to be too large. growth is apt to be too large. I plow it deeply, harrow it well, and about the 29th of June, sow on two and a half bushels of corn. I use the large variety, plow in with shovel plow or cultivator, and if heartily tired of such a sickly life, and try to grow among something else the some; then cradle down when dry, and put up in loose shocks, tie at the top with rye straw, and leave stand until wanted for feed; it may be fed cut short, or as it is on clean ground.

You have only to use this majical remedy. All those who still suffer, and will not accept the proferred Eain, deserve not the pity of their families.

This wonderful medicine, during the brief period since its introduction, has carried happiness to the hearts of thousands, and made life a charm to many who hereto-for regarded it only as a painful and misorable existence.

It is a remarkable fact, that among the hundreds of sminent physicians who have examined the recipe by which Bull's Saroparilla is prepared, not one has condemned it, but all approve it, and commend it in the highest terms. Many physicians express themselves strongly in the belief that it is decidedly the best preparation of Saroparilia that has ease been placed before the public. Although there are many physicians who feel a reluctance to having their names appended to the recommendation of any particular remody, notwithstanding they may approve of it in the highest degree; there are others who frankly yield their support in favor of a remedy which they know is capable of doing on much good in an ufficied ecommunity.
